

STARGAZE

With 6 Printable Constellation Cards

Just before bedtime, after the fire's been put out, is the perfect time to search for constellations. Print and cut out the cards, then use them as a guide to easily find constellations in the night sky.

FUN FACT: The Big Dipper is not technically a constellation, but part of a constellation known as Ursa Major. However, in the northern hemisphere the Big Dipper is usually the most identifiable pattern of stars in the sky.
